Monty in New Flank Attack

Reds Reach Latvia Line

By WES GALLAGHER

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, July 10 (AP)—The British Second Army struck a hard blow eastward on a three-mile front at the Germans' left flank three miles south of newly-occupied Caen today, capturing Eterville in short order and advancing to within less than a mile of the river Orne.

Field dispatches described the attack as a typical flanking job by Gen. Montgomery.

It was made while the bulk of the main German forces were engaged by British sweeping through the ruins of Caen toward the suburb of Fautorg de Vaucelles, where the Germans were making a stand.

In the first two and a half hours of the new attack south and east of the Orne river the British overran Key Hill 112, three-quarters of a mile north of Esquay on the road to Caen, as well as Eterville, three miles southwest of Caen on the same road.

The new attack, flung with a tremendous artillery barrage at 5 a. m., came just 15 hours after British and Canadian forces had taken Caen, 120 miles from Paris, and opened the way to a favorable flat battleground on the plain of Caen, south of the port to Falaise.

On the western end of the line American forces matched the British offensive with a drive that made progress in all sectors following the capture of La Haye du Puits, bitterly defended German stronghold.

NAZIS LOSE 5500

Field dispatches assaying the extent of the British-Canadian victory at Caen said the German 12th SS Panzer Division and a field division had been badly mauled in trying to hold the town. The 12th Panzers were reported whittled to 45 per cent of their normal strength, a loss of perhaps 5500 men.

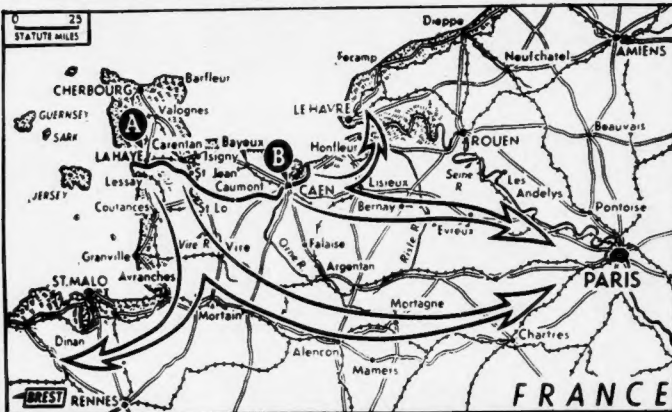

The town of Caen was so badly battered that the British had to bring up bulldozers to push the rubble aside because vehicles could not get within 500 yards of the river.

"The Germans have suffered a severe reverse," the supreme command asserted in commenting on the capture of Caen, but hastened to add:

"The have not yet suffered a major defeat in the field."

The forces of Field Marshal Rommel were badly mauled in the fierce fighting for Caen, with the major part of two divisions trapped in pockets north of the Orne by the swift British advance.

But the bulk of the German troops engaged in the area staged an organized retreat, in the words of the supreme command, and took a new stand along the south bank of the Orne.

FRANCE—The road to Brest and the door to Paris were open today for the Allied forces in France after American forces stormed and captured (A) La Haye and British-Canadian troops seized (B) Caen. Arrows indicate courses of possible drives.

Saipan Ideal Plane Base

By Associated Press

United States forces have conquered Saipan, clearing the way for direct strikes from the western Pacific into the vitals of Japan's empire. The capital island of the Marianas fell Saturday after 25 days of the bloodiest, costliest fighting in all of Adm. Nimitz's drive across the Pacific from Pearl Harbor.

Saipan is 1450 miles south of Tokyo and 1640 miles east of Manila. The leap from the Marshall Islands to Saipan advanced the Americans 1150 miles westward.

Now for the first time land-based bombers are in position to raid Manila and the Japanese homeland from the Pacific.

Japan breathed hard from other body blows suffered in its many-front Pacific war. Noemfoor Island, off northwest New Guinea and within 800 miles of the southern Philippines, was in Gen. MacArthur's hands. All resistance there ended a day ahead of Saipan's collapse, adding another nest of airfields for Allied use.

Chinese troops have launched a large-scale offensive in southern Hupeh Province, making considerable progress against designated objectives, the Chinese High Command announced.

This push was probably diver-sionary, to prevent further reinforcement of the Japanese around Hengyang, in Hunan Province to the south.

A Japanese column trying to push forward from Canton has been pressed farther back, the high command declared, but it admitted loss of Tsingyu, 40 miles northeast of Canton.

In Burma organized enemy resistance collapsed at Ukhrul, Japanese base inside the northeast India border.

AP Correspondent Rembert James wrote from Saipan that the final battle of the islands' northern tip "was an ugly spectacle of senseless dying" for the Japanese defenders whose doom was sealed days ago.

Probably 95 per cent—or 19,000—of the Japanese garrison perished in defending the island. Civilians surrendered by the hundreds. A stockade also held a crowd of unwounded Japanese soldiers, a rare spectacle in the Pacific war.

Toward the end of the fight, with the Japanese hidden in caves and other defenses, N. S. air units noted signs of bewilderment and terror among the soldiers and civilians caught in the trap.

"At one place," James wrote, "scores of Japanese swam out into the sea as the battle drew nearer and nearer to them. There was no where to swim and they had to swim back or drown, organized positions fell to the Americans."

MOSCOW, July 10 (INS)—The main Nazi communications network linking defense bastions throughout the Baltics was endangered today by Soviet legions which swept forward along a road from in pursuit of Germans retreating along their tottering railroad lines.

Paris Ahead

The Reds reached and captured the Latvian border at Riga, occupied the Polish rail hub of Lodz controlling lines to both Riga and Warsaw and fought street battles in the streets of Wilno, 56 miles to the north of Lodz.

Driving the Nazis back toward their next major defense line in the east, Soviet troops were developing five major thrusts along a 500-mile front stretching from Latvia to the Bug river in Nazi-occupied Poland.

Russian spearheads knifed their way to within 25 miles of the Latvian rail junction of Dvinsk, while other Russian forces to the south smashed to within 17 miles of Pinsk.

In Wilno, Soviet tanks, infantry and cavalry fought their way through street barricades and hammered the Germans back in savage house-to-house fighting.

Russian troops wiped out a large number of Nazi paratroopers who landed in the town yesterday in a desperate effort to bolster the crumbling garrison.

Red troops seized the city's airfield and main railroad station despite stubborn resistance by five picked enemy regiments reinforced by troops ordered by the German high command to defend Wilno to the last man.

(The Nazi-controlled Oslo radio said the Russians were storming southward beyond Wilno.)

A special Soviet announcement disclosed that 6,530 more prisoners have been taken east of Minsk, including a major general in command of the German 54th Infantry Division. That brought to 15 the number of Nazi generals captured by the Russians since June 22.

Bombers Renew Aid to Invaders

LONDON, July 10 (AP)—Large forces of Allied bombers and fighters streamed across the English channel in improving weather today in support of the British and American troops advancing on the Normandy battlefield.

During the night RAF Mosquito and Boston bombers ranged deep into France and attacked 18 trains and railroads leading to the German front, highway convoys and Seine river bridges.

Mosquitos bombed a Synthetic oil plant at Buer.

Italy Yanks Cut 4-Mile Wedge

By NOLAND NORGAARD

ROME, July 10 (AP)—Overcoming dogged enemy resistance, American infantrymen who yesterday captured the German stronghold of Volterra have knifed forward another four miles and driven a significant wedge in German defenses fronting the Gothic Line. Allied headquarters announced today.

Progress, however, remained slow along the entire front as the Germans continued to mass guns and troops and to fight desperately from every vantage point.

RUSSIA—Red army forces are reported to have cut rail line between Dvinsk and Kaunas... while further south the rail junction of Lida has fallen to the swift-moving Soviet troops.

Jurors Quizzed

PITTSFIELD, July 10—The 12 members of the first Noxon jury, dismissed after a mistrial, were summoned today to give testimony before the grand jury of alleged irregularities in the jury room and elsewhere during the first trial.

Dist. Atty. Charles R. Alberti disclosed he would seek complaints against two men for their conduct before members of the jury.

The new move in the lengthy case came as John F. Noxon, Jr., awaited transfer to state prison at Charlestown to pay in the electric chair for the murder of his baby son, Lawrence, a mentally and physically defective infant.

Papers for the transfer already have been issued for some day this week, but, under law, the transfer must be secret.

Gas Supply Low Normandy Nazi

LONDON, July 10 (AP)—That the Germans are becoming hard-pressed for motor fuel is shown by the capture in Normandy of an increasing number of tanks and trucks out of fuel.

This was attributed to Allied air attacks on production centers, supply dumps and roads—and to the French underground activities cutting rail lines, thus forcing the Germans to move tanks to the front under their own power. The latter action was considered important because a tiger tank uses a gallon of fuel per mile.

A field dispatch reported a German order had been issued for bidding tank commanders from drawing fuel from air force supplies.

Prospect of thunder storms and showers was held out by the weather bureau today to break a three-day warm spell which on the Sabbath alone brought a toll of six deaths by prostrations and drownings and saw the mercury reach 94 degrees. The temperature was expected to drop sharply after noontime, provided the showers arrived on schedule.

vestigators for the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey circus.

The report, which tells how the flames were carried so swiftly that the tent top was ashes in 10 minutes, is to be presented along with police findings tomorrow when a coroner's inquest sits to determine whether the devastating fire resulted from criminal negligence. Five circus officials have been charged with manslaughter as a result of the blaze.

The report, submitted after 1500 persons had been questioned, most of them employees of the circus, alleges that a wartime rope made of hemp and jute, highly inflammable, acted as a wick to spread the flames rapidly. Had manila rope been used, the top would have stayed up longer, allowing more to flee the flames, according to the report.

Meanwhile, the number of unidentified dead was reduced to six—three children, two women and a man.

Latest to die of burns were Mrs. Sally Lapuk, 40, of Hartford; Laura Travers, 39, of Bloomfield, and Doris Schinkel, 22, of Manchester, according to Associated Press tabulation showing 157 deaths.

Identified were the bodies of Michael E. Norris, 50, of Middletown, whose 42-year-old wife also died in the disaster, and Mrs. Edith Brown Cortiss, 57, of North Grosvenordale.

Mrs. Elizabeth Pomeroy of Syracuse, N. Y., came here to identify Mrs. Cortiss, her mother.

Robot Raids In 26th Day

LONDON, July 10 (AP)—The evacuation of women and children from London and various cities in southern England continued in orderly fashion today as the German flying bomb offensive went into its 26th day.

More than 50,000 children have been moved out of the immediate danger zone with only one minor hitch. Residents of York appeared reluctant to take evacuees into their homes, but the mayor signed a compulsory order and 1600 women and children were safely billeted.

The Germans took advantage of overcast skies to sneak their robots through the defense wall. An official announcement acknowledged damage and casualties in both London and the southern counties.

By The Associated Press

The word spread in Democratic circles today that President Roosevelt apparently has decided to let Henry A. Wallace stand or fall on his own record and to leave entirely to the Democratic national convention the choice of a 1944 vice-presidential nominee.

That report, on which most party leaders are proceeding, came as Wallace headed toward Washington to report to the President tomorrow and to reappraise the political scene after several weeks in China and Russia. Doubts as to a 16-year-in-the-White House nomination for the President are no longer expressed.

Word seeping from inner party councils indicated that if the convention consults the Chief Executive as to his wishes, he will express a preference for Wallace. But he is represented as not prepared to dictate a choice to the convention, which starts a week from Wednesday in Chicago.

Wallace has his supporters, but there is strong opposition to him in party ranks, much of it from the South. Virginia emphasized that Saturday by voting to instruct its 24 delegates to the convention to ballot against Wallace for re-nomination.

Loot From Police Safe Is Returned

NEW YORK, July 10 (AP)—Embarrassing mystery of a burglarized safe in police headquarters deepened today as a young war worker, who said he was so much in love he forgot about finding a batch of war bonds strewn on a subway platform, turned up voluntarily with part of the loot.

Max Bernstein, 29, told police that on July 1 he found the bonds and a tin box holding two pennies, pocketed the bonds and cash and then gave the bulky certificates—worth $350—to his girl to carry in her purse. He said he intended to take them to police headquarters, but forgot.

During a date with her last night, he said, he got the bonds back and then went to headquarters annex where he told a policeman: "I think I've got the stolen bonds."

Meanwhile police continued to look for the burglar who had the temerity to enter headquarters and remove the bonds and $402.75 in cash.

Polls will be open in Boston from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m.

In contrast to the first wartime primary two years ago, much greater interest is being shown in the present crop of contenders and indications are that substantially more than the 40 per cent of the electorate who voted two years ago will participate in tomorrow's polling.

Voting is expected to be heavy in Democratic districts because of the presence of many outstanding members of that party in the field of candidates.

SEEK GOVERNORSHIP

In their gubernatorial candidacies, Mayor Maurice J. Tobin of Boston and State Treasurer Francis X. Hurley, the Democrats have two of the most able of the younger men of their party. Each has had a successful political career and each, in the opinion of unbiased observers, is well qualified to be party standard bearer in November.

Other contests which are expected to bring out a substantial vote in Democratic districts are the fight for sheriff of Suffolk County, the battle to unseat Cong. James M. Curley in the 11th district, the surge of friends of Cong. John W. McCormack of South Boston to renominate him in the 12th district, the victory sweep of Cong. Philip J. Philbin at Clinton, and the fight between City Councilor William A. Carey and former Sen. Edward O'Hearn Muldowney for Democratic nomination for Congress in the 14th district.

Cong. McCormack, leader of the Democratic majority in the national House of Representatives, has distinguished himself during his present term by outstanding work in behalf of the men and women now serving in the armed forces of the nation.

FOUGHT FOR GI BILL

As majority leader, he has given strong support to many measures intended to aid service people upon their return to civilian life and during the past session of the Congress was a leader in the battle for enactment of mustering-out pay legislation and the G. I. Bill of Rights, which provides education, unemployment compensation and other benefits for discharged veterans.

Many outstanding men are candidates for nomination to the Legislature this year.

Seeking re-election as Democratic representative of Ward 18, Hyde Park, are the incumbents John T. Padden and Michael Paul Feeney.

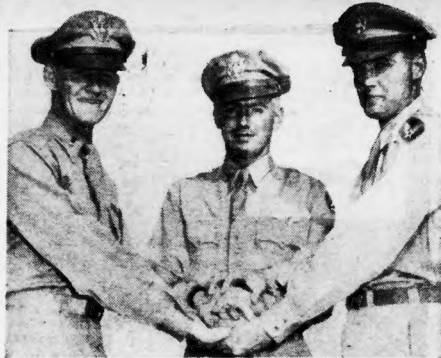

A Democratic House candidate in Ward 8, Roxbury, is Patrick J. "Packy" Sullivan, a party stalwart there for many years, while voters of Ward 13, Dorchester, have as a candidate Atty. Philip A. Chapman, former penal institutions commissioner and former purchasing agent for the City of Boston.

BACKED BY COMMITTEE

Chapman has been endorsed for nomination to the post by the Ward 13 Democratic Committee.

A woman seeks to represent Ward 14, Dorchester, on Beacon Hill. She is Mrs. Annette Glick, mother of two children, and a leader in the movement for increased recreational facilities for youngsters of that section.

In Charlestown, State Sen. Robert Lee is receiving widespread support in his bid for re-election to that office. Lee was a leader in the recently won fight to provide a 200-bed hospital for veterans of Massachusetts and former ill or disabled, an action for which he was commended by members of Bunker Hill Post, American Legion.

COMPLETE TRAINING—Three way congratulations are the order of the day for these New Englanders after they completed Army bombardier training and graduated at Carlisle, N. M. They are (l. to r.) Lt. N. E. Political Chiefs Confer With Dewey

By LEO O'BRIEN

ALBANY, N. Y., July 10 (INS)—Gov. Dewey began a series of conferences today with New England congressional leaders and candidates in the wake of increasing indications that most of the major supporters of Willkie, if not Willkie himself, will support Dewey.

The Governor returned to the Executive mansion last night following a two-day stay at his Pawling farm home, to receive word that Samuel F. Pryor of Connecticut, Willkie's eastern campaign manager in 1940, had come out strongly for the New York Governor, and predicted that he would carry Connecticut.

The Republican Presidential candidate has a heavy calendar today, featured by an afternoon conference with Congressional leaders from Vermont, one of the two states which escaped the Roosevelt landslide in 1936, and a dinner and evening conference with a delegation from Massachusetts, which promises to be a major political battleground.

The Massachusetts delegation, headed by House Minority Leader Joseph W. Martin, Jr., Gov. Leverett Saltonstall, who is a candidate for the Senate, and Senator Sinclair Weeks, was to meet with the Republican nominee at 5 p. m., and it was possible that Martin, Saltonstall and Weeks would be overnight guests at the mansion. Weeks, a strong supporter of Willkie, was one of two Willkie men appointed recently to the Republican national executive committee by the Dewey forces.

Mrs. Dewey and the two Dewey boys remain at Pawling.

Shineless Serge, No-Wilt Creases Wait End of War

ST. LOUIS, July 10 (AP)—When GI Joe returns to civilian clothes he is going to have a couple of surprises coming. He may remember his shiny old blue serge suit but he won't remember the war will never shine, no matter how long he wears it.

And it won't wrinkle after a long train ride, or in a suit case. The creases in the pants will be razor sharp, even after a walk through a heavy rain.

These are all applications of research on chemical treatment of natural fibers announced today by the Monsanto Chemical Co.

Monsanto says shineless serge, wrinkle-proof suits, no-wilt creases and other similar developments are all possible because of newly discovered techniques of treating either the surface or the heart of fibers without in any way changing the feel or texture of the material.

The women are going to get their share, too. When the luxuries of silk and nylon stockings return, they will be run-proof.

Monsanto says this is made possible by a deposit of submicroscopic grains of sand or silica which prevents the fibers from slipping out of the positions into which they were knitted.

Right now these new processes are being applied to war materials, but Monsanto says they can all be expected in civilian goods, shortly after the war ends.

More Steaks and Roasts Likely With Point Drop

By ERWIN D. SIAS

WASHINGTON, July 10 (INS)—Beef steaks and roasts may be available to civilians in larger quantities and lower ration point values late this summer, government officials indicated today.

OFF TO CAMP—John Ford and Charles and Arthur Andropoulos wave goodbye to Boston as they leave for the Salvation Army summer camp at Sharon.

INP by Joseph Parodi

However, a War Food Administration spokesman maintained that reduced pork production may force the return of choicer pork cuts, including chops, to the ration list by August 1.

The WFA also disclosed that civilians will get less butter, cheddar cheese and evaporated milk in July, August and September than in the preceding three months, but will receive more of some other foods.

PRODUCTS TO INCREASE

There are expected to be larger supplies of peanut butter, dehydrated soups, citrus marmalade, soya flour, wheat flour, bread, macaroni, spaghetti, noodles oatmeal, rye breakfast foods, potatoes, frozen vegetables and shell eggs.

Regarding the meat situation, a WFA official said "if we get a fairly good feed crop, more cattle will move into the feed lots this summer and we will be able to produce more and better beef."

OPA meat experts agreed with the possibility and said should it occur "there probably will be readjustment necessary in the point values on steaks and roasts."

Entry of more cattle into the midwestern feed lots would spread out marketings and help prevent an unexpected glut in the packing centers during September and October, it was pointed out.

SEE LESS HAM

As for immediate meat supplies, WFA said adequate quantities of cheaper beef and pork cuts will be available for civilians during most of July and August. WFA anticipates, however, a spotty scarcity of hams and less lamb, the latter due to a reduction in sheep.

Beef steaks and roasts, lamb and mutton are now on the ration list. All other meats are point free.

There are 82,000,000 head of cattle in the country at the present time 40,000,000 of which are beef cattle. Bulk of the beef on the market now is grass-fed and of lower quality than the animals "fed out" by midwestern feeders.

Plane Picks Corn

LONDON, July 10 (AP)—An RAF fighter pilot landed at his Normandy air field yesterday with visible evidence that he had gone in at head-hopping altitude to shoot up a German motor transport column.

Dispatches from the battlefront said the ground crew had found ears of corn imbedded in the radiator of his spitfire, while twigs were hanging from his cannon barrels. The pilot was identified as flying Officer W. A. Doyle of Winnipeg.

De Gaulle, F. D. Talks a Success

LONDON, July 10 (INS)—Stockholm dispatches to the London Daily Mail reported that Adolf Hitler has become obsessed with a new lady friend, Eva Braun, a mossy-haired, blue-eyed Bavarian.

She is reported to be closer to the Fuehrer than any other person at the moment and this is said to have aroused the displeasure of Nazi party leaders. Their romance has caused considerable whispering throughout several European capitals.

Hitler has known Eva two and a half years, the Daily Mail added, but only recently has she become his obsession, with the result that many of his followers are accusing him of neglecting affairs of state.

Mrs. Nauckhoff Comley, former wife of the German comedian Heinz Ruanman and now the wife

WASHINGTON, July 10 (AP)—Gen. Charles De Gaulle, reporting his conversations with President Roosevelt had attained the "principal object" of creating a better understanding, announced today he would move his capital from Algiers to liberated French territory as soon as possible.

"I had very broad and frank conversations with President Roosevelt," De Gaulle told a press conference, adding that he was taking away with him "the best possible impression of the United States."

De Gaulle said President Roosevelt spoke to him of American responsibilities for the war and for the peace "with a breadth of view... which particularly impressed me."

The General discussed his meeting with r. Roosevelt and other American officials just before taking a plane for New York. He spoke in French after an initial "good morning, ladies and gentlemen" in English.

EVA BRAUN

of a Swedish citizen, was quoted as saying she knew Eva well.

"Eva is of humble origin, like Hitler, and apparently they feel at home together," Mrs. Comley said. "She earned her living as a shop assistant. Then she was discovered by Goebbels, who introduced her and her elder sister, Irma, to the Fuehrer at a garden party in Berchtesgaden."

"Hitler was attracted to both women but preferred Eva. He built her a mansion on the edge of one of Munich's nicest parks and furnished it with antiques and art pieces from occupied Europe. 'She has furs from Norway, jewels from Paris, and when she wants a holiday she has suites reserved in the Tyrol or the French Riviera. She has the most luxurious cabriolet made by the Mercedes-Benz factory, and the hood she flies a Nazi standard similar to Hitler's."

"Sometimes Hitler takes Eva to Berlin and entertains her in what is left of the chancellery but he keeps away from Berlin as much as possible."

MRS. ELLA SMITH BELL OF LYNN
Bride Waits Arrival of "Missing" Flier-Husband

Two Escaped Fliers Rush Home to Wives

Two Greater Boston fliers, who made their way to safety after being shot down behind the Nazi lines in Italy, today began a trip from Miami to see courageous wives who never gave up hope from the day they received word their husbands were missing.

One of them is Lt. Robert C. Bell, 22, who telephoned his wife, Mrs. Ella Smith Bell, 22, of West Baltimore, Md., last week.

Lynn, that he was well and would be home either tomorrow or Wednesday.

The other is Sgt. Joseph A. Gately, 23, who made a similar call of reassurance to his wife, Mrs. Joseph A. Gately, 23, of Poplar st., Watertown. The two fliers were together in the crash.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Carroll Bell of Elmwood rd., Swampscott, Bell was a veteran of 25 bombing missions over Germany and had earned the Purple Heart and Air Medal with Oak Leaf Clusters.

He is a graduate of Swampscott High and Hebron Academy, and was attending Boston University when he enlisted in the Army Air Forces in April, 1942. He and the former Ella Smith were married two years ago, while he was a flying cadet at the Roswell, N. M., air training school.

Gately, the gunner on the plane, is a graduate of Watertown High School. He and Mrs. Gately will celebrate their first wedding anniversary Aug. 8, during his leave. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. John J.

8 Pedestrians In Week's Toll of 9

Eight of nine automobile fatalities during the past week were pedestrians, according to a report by Registrar Frank A. Goodwin which listed 23 deaths so far this year, as compared to 175 during the corresponding period a year ago.

Convicted for driving while under the influence of liquor were 66 operators, 50 more than in the preceding week. Of these, three were committed to jail from district courts.

Ghost Plane Startles N. E. Flies in Raid on Austria

AT A U. S. FORTRESS BASE IN ITALY, July 8 (Delayed) (AP)—Sgt. Bernard A. Egan, tail gunner on a Flying Fortress, had heard about "ghost planes" but this one defied expectation.

Egan, who lives at 64 Chester st., Springfield, Mass., was in the last plane of a group of Fortresses returning today from a raid on the Zwoflaxing airport in Austria.

He had his eyes on a B-17 from another formation that had caught a burst of flak. He noted the last gyrations of one propeller, saw oil spilling from the other three engines.

Then Egan saw the crew ball out of the crippled bomber. He counted the chutes as they blossomed out until the full count of 10 was reached.

But the crewless bomber kept right on flying, trailing the returning formation as it traveled along Italy's Adriatic coast.

Egan said the formation made several turns, and the plane followed in perfect synchronization.

When the formation finally turned inland to settle down at its base the "Ghost Fortress" continued southward. Egan estimated it would land in Africa sometime after nightfall.

Charlestown Man In McGrath Quiz

A 51-year-old Charlestown man, a former Cohasset chicken farmer, was questioned at Boston police headquarters today in the murder of little Frances McGrath of Dorchester.

Arrested in connection with an attempted attack on a young Charlestown girl, the man admitted to police that he was familiar with the Scituate area from which the McGrath youngster vanished.

Police, who called in State Police investigators and Police Chief Michael Stewart of Scituate, said the man has relatives in Scituate and recently was a visitor there. He appeared in 1930 in Quincy court on charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Meanwhile, it was reported that a special grand jury may be called this week to hear evidence in the kidnap murder of the 10-year-old youngster, whose body was found in the woods off a Norwell lane about a week after she vanished from Scituate Harbor.

The entire case was reviewed at a conference held last Saturday in which Dist. Atty. Edmund R.

Dewing, Police Chief Michael E. Stewart of Scituate, and Public Safety Commr. John F. Stokes and state detectives participated.

Following the conference the detectives returned to Scituate to follow a certain line of investigation which the authorities feel confident will result in developments likely to culminate in the calling of a special grand jury session later in the week.

In that event, evidence will be presented by Dist. Atty. Dewing and his assistant, John Wheatley.

Body of Sailor's Wife Taken from Crib

The body of Mrs. Len Bradshaw, 24, of Hancock, West End, was recovered from the Charles river today/night hours after she disappeared on a swimming party. Sgt. Arthur Remick of the Metropolitan police recovered the body floating 100 yd off shore while patrolling in early launch. The victim was the wife of a Navy chief boatswain's mate mother of four children.

Back Bay Death Suspect Held

A Dorchester man was held as a suspicious person today in connection with the death of Clifford J. Donoghue, 46, of Woodland ave., Melrose, who died suddenly in the Newbury st. offices of the F. W. Donoghue Co., plumbing contractors. Police said they would seek a complaint in municipal court.

Donoghue's death was declared due to heart disease in a report by Medical Examiner William H. Waters. He died after a police physician, Dr. Joseph Lussman, was called to the company's offices after a Dorchester man reported to police he was unable to get medical aid for the victim.

Police are investigating a report there had been an argument prior to Donoghue's collapse.

Mystery Blast Rocks Back Bay

Scores of residents of the Back Bay area were aroused today by a terrific explosion on Beacon st., in the area near the Fensgate Hotel.

Boston police found no trace of the cause and attributed it to a giant fire cracker or a home-made bomb.

Go Home, Mama

LONG BRANCH, N. J., July 10 (AP)—"We are tired of seeing 200-pound 40-year-old mamas trying to make themselves pin-up girls," Frank A. Brato, Long Branch commissioner of public safety, said today, explaining why police had spent the day warning all women more than 16 years of age, who were seen on the street wearing shorts, swimming costumes or bathing robes, to go home and change.

THESE SHOES WERE FORMERLY RATIONED. But because of an OPA ruling on odd lots, broken sizes and discontinued styles, we can sell them July 10 thru July 29, 1944, WITHOUT A RATION COUPON.

Nazis Fight Crisis In Transportation

By WADE WERNER

MADRID, July 10 (AP)—Far behind the tumult and destruction on the great battlefronts of Normandy, Russia and Italy, the Germans are struggling desperately to stave off defeat on the transportation front—on which the defense of all the others depends.

The whole picture suggests the possibility that the battle for Europe may be decided enroute to the front—an Armageddon on wheels.

The desperate situation on this far-flung front which links production areas with the armies is disclosed in German newspapers reaching Spain.

They appeal to the German people to understand the complete stoppage of railway traffic in certain areas, and not to lose patience. There are numerous articles glorifying railwaymen and urging them to still greater effort "under conditions of personal danger similar to the fighting front."

In addition there are reports of campaigns to divert every possible self-propelled or horse-drawn vehicle to supplement the dwindling capacity of the bomb-battered and sabotaged ridden railway network.

During the period from March through May, some 800 persons were reported killed in train wrecks in Germany, but this is only one feature of the transportation battle in which railway yards and junctions throughout Europe have been battered from the air for many months.

The Berlin newspaper Voelkischer Beobachter, praising efforts of German railwaymen in France to keep supplies rolling, describes the terrific intensity of the Allied bombardments preparatory to the Normandy offensive.

"Hundreds of British and American heavy bombers dumped on little railway junctions in France

By The Associated Press
Mileages on the routes which Allied armies are travelling toward Berlin now read:

1—Russian Front—470 miles (measured in a direct line) from a point just north of Kovel).

2—Italian Front—810 miles (from near Ancona on the Adriatic).

3—Normandy Front—635 miles (from Caen).

zigganic weights of bombs sufficient to transform whole cities into rubble and ashes," the newspaper reported, "and in addition countless trains have been shot up by cannon and machine guns of mauling planes."

"Since the Normandy landings it has become even worse with the onslaughts of saboteurs," the newspaper added.

Fr. Orlemanski Denies Plan to See Pope

The report that the Rev. Stanislaus Orlemanski of Springfield will soon go to Rome to report personally to Pope Pius XII on his visit with Stalin has brought only polite silence from the pastor of Our Lady of Holy Rosary Church.

Fr. Orlemanski said he had heard on the radio that he was to make such a trip and that Myron C. Taylor, U. S. envoy to the Vatican, was making arrangements. "I guess you'll have to discuss this with Mr. Taylor because I know nothing of the trip," he said.

Long Evening Gowns, Gay Colors, to Feature Season

NEW YORK, July 10 (AP)—The long evening gown is back with a bang in New York's fall fashion collection, triumphantly bouffant or wickedly slinky. After all, there's nothing like a long dress to bring out a girl's best points and conceal her bad ones.

As 65 fashion editors of newspapers throughout the United States assembled today for the opening of the New York Dress Institute's National Press Week. Colors were gay and vivid. There is none of the grimness that marked the first collections designed under WPB restrictions.

Foxbrownie shows a series of surprise-topped dresses in two colors—half green, half purple; or half fuchsia, half black. She stresses wool suits in high colors, with Kelly green the favorite, softly tailored, with longer jackets, longer waistlines, dressmaker details.

Bruno, of Spectator Sports, shows a series of suits in heather tones of tweed.

Pacific War Center Shifts Toward Asia

By KARL H. VON WIEGAND

China has entered the eighth year of its war with the Japanese invader.

President Roosevelt told his press conference the war in China is not going well. I have pointed that out ever since my return from Shanghai and Manila in December. Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek described China's situation as "grave" in his address to the Chinese people on the anniversary of the beginning of the conflict with Japan. We may be certain he has not overstated it.

Outstanding successes of the Navy under Adm. Chester W. Nimitz in the Pacific, especially on Saipan, at the cost of very heavy casualties to us and much heavier losses to the Japanese, is tending to shift the center of war in the Pacific to Japan proper, but still more so to the continent of Asia.

This is becoming more apparent every day with the Japanese forces advance southward from Changsha and northward from Canton along the Hankow railway, splitting China from the Great Wall in the north to Indo-China in the south.

Not much more than a gap of about 150 miles separates the two spearheads of the Japanese divisions.

It is a mistake to assume Japan will be brought to our terms without Gen. MacArthur's hard fighting American and Australian infantry, SUPPORTED BY MUCH ARTILLERY AND MANY TANKS AND PLANES.

The loss of the Philippines by the Japanese is almost certain to cause them to shift the center of gravity of the war south of Japan proper. To China, especially if their north and south drives are successful. That might impose upon us the necessity to invade the continent of Asia.

It would be a task of transporting of troops, supplies and communications vastly more difficult than crossing the 25 miles of the English Channel.

Dear Voters of the Commonwealth.

Tomorrow is YOUR day.

At the polls all men are equal.

That is what has made America great. Under the Constitution, our Government recognizes no class. It is for the protection of all. That is the "American Way."

That concept has been the basis of my administrative policy for the seven years that I have been chief executive of the largest city in New England—with more than 20,000 employees and a budget nearly as great as that for the State of Massachusetts.

Since entering public service, I have been elected and re-elected to office in the City of Boston four times. In each of these city-wide contests more votes were cast for me than for any other candidate. In none did I fail to carry a majority of the city's Wards. This is personally gratifying to me because it demonstrates beyond doubt that the service I have rendered has been approved and appreciated by all citizens.

It is doubly gratifying that my record and my experience has won for me the endorsement of employers and employees alike.

The office of the Governor of the Commonwealth carries the heaviest of responsibilities. As your Governor, I shall undertake to carry out those responsibilities with fairness and justice to all—through the difficult transition period from war to peace, a period I confidently believe will come during the term of our next Governor.

May I ask for your support and your vote, tomorrow.

Tomorrow is YOUR day.

Sincerely yours,

Maurice J. Tobin

10—Boston American, July 10

He's still Our G.I. Joe

The question of post-war jobs—especially for returning veterans—is a big one and a live one. It will get more so as the war comes nearer its end.

Our own job security plan for Esso Marketers' employees now in uniform went into operation the day after Pearl Harbor. It has worked so well for so long that we want to pass our experience along.

In general, it is based on the idea that we are saving his place for our fighting man while he's away, whether he volunteered, was drafted, or was called up as a reservist. Chief features of the plan are these...

1. Each employee who has been with us a year or longer is given two months' salary as he enters the armed forces.

2. His dependents receive monthly payments from the company while he is away—up to half of his former company pay.

3. Each employee has been assured by letter from our company president that his old job—or another as good or better—will be waiting for him. Experience gained in the Armed Forces may result in his immediate advancement.

4. His rights in company retirement and benefit plans are protected while he is away.

*DETAILS of the plan have been put into a booklet which we shall be glad to send you.

Soon we will announce in this newspaper further plans for making some good new jobs in the oil business after the war.

As we see it today, next to winning the war itself, nothing is more important than the matter of post-war jobs.

Legion to Protest Radio Speech Cut

By WILLIAM F. McCULLAM
Special to the Boston Evening American

NEW YORK, July 10—Formal protest against radio censorship of an anti-Communist speech made here by State Senator Frederic R. Coudert was foreseen today by leaders of the American Legion, before whom the speech was made Friday.

of widespread reaction to the cutting by Station WMCA of almost half the senator's prepared speech at the Legion's New York county convention.

Originally an indictment of Communist infiltration into the traditional form of American government, the speech as aired was merely a patriotic oration, causing the senator to describe the FCC as:

"Sitting like a devil on a pedestal, wielding the power of life and death over a radio station."

Among the numerous angry statements was that of William E. Lewis, state commander of the American Legion.

"Despite any explanation by the station," he said, "it is clearly obvious that such censorship as this is not only a violation of our free press but is inspired and almost compelled by the FCC, a government agency."

"This is an outrage."

"You may be assured that we, who have fought to preserve the rights and privileges which made this country the hope of the world, will register our formal protest soon in the most effective way possible."

"Denying the FCC had anything to do with censorship of the original speech, Nathan Straus, WMCA president, said parts of the copy were cut because they "contained aspersions on our Allies and other material calculated to spread disunity at home."

This was denied by Sen. Coudert.

Hoss Curfew

RIVER EDGE, N. J., July 10 (INS)—A "curfew on the hoof" will go into effect in River Edge within a week, designed to keep all horses off the streets between 10 p. m. and 7 a. m. on weekdays or between 10 p. m. and 9 a. m. on Sundays.

Mayor Martin J. Ferber declaring that he believed the ordinance limiting such traffic is without New Jersey precedent, explained that the regulation will "allow police to cope with the growing problem created by the invasion of this borough by horsemen from riding academies in adjacent towns."

Dog Roundup Follows Scare

The Animal Rescue League today rounded up dozens of dogs in the Roxbury and Jamaica Plain area after a mad dog scare in which five boys were bitten.

Agents of the league said the animals probably were upset by heat and thirst and were not likely to have rabies. Those picked up will be returned to owners if licensed and destroyed if unlicensed.

The bite victims were taken to City Hospital where the wounds were cauterized and the Pasteur treatment administered.

The victims in Roxbury were: Joseph Reute, 10, Dewey st., bitten on the right leg; John Savage, 14, Washington st., right arm; Joseph Ilazer, 17, left arm; John Mitchell, 8, Balaan ct., right arm.

In Jamaica Plain, James Morgan, 12, Schiller st., right arm and back.

Don't Let Summer Sun Harm Your Hair

YOUR hair-growing structure is delicate and may react unfavorably to over-exposure to the hot rays of the mid-day summer sun. You owe it to yourself, therefore, to learn how you can help, rather than harm your hair, during the summer months.

Twenty years of success endows The Thomas with the necessary skill and ability to correctly advise you. Consult a Thomas expert today (without charge, in private). He'll tell you when and how to expose your hair to the summer sun; when to wear a hat; what to do about excessive perspiration on the scalp—about salt-water bathing and shower baths. He'll show you, too, how the reliable proved Thomas method removes dandruff scales, and how it relieves the itch which local excitement may cause. Remember—consultation and advice without charge!

Kids From Kiska Seek Excitement

By HUCK FINNEGAN

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND—John Monahan, 21 Milton st., East Dedham, has never been to the North Pole, but he'd be willing to camp there if he could have the type of sleeping bag he had at Kiska.

They're the greatest thing ever devised for the outdoors," says the 37-year-old ex-plasterer.

"They're filled with goose feathers—any kind of poultry feathers will do—and you can be comfortable when it's 50 below zero. They're two-piece affairs, trunks and hood. You're issued two. You bundle yourself up in one, and the second you can either zip or spread across you like a comforter."

Monahan is one of a band of medics here who invaded the Aleutians last August under command of Lt. Col. John B. Riley of Minnesota. They expected the same kind of battle the U. S. forces experienced in Attu, were surprised when they discovered the Japs had departed a week before their arrival.

Other Kiska kids over here Jaffrey, N. L. Wellington grad.

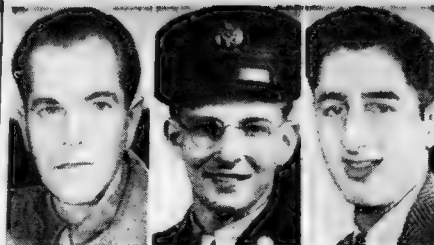

looking for excitement are:

Steve Speare, 23, of Brackett rd., Newton. Voluble Steve attended Lowell High and was going to B. U. pre-med when war intervened. He has a brother, Pete, a lieutenant, flying a Fortress at Canute Field, Ill.

Cpl. Joseph Petrie, 25, of Manchau (near Worcester). Joe suffers from sinus and before the war went out to Los Angeles for his health. He worked as an apprentice machinist there. "The climate is dry, and helped my sinus. I'm going back to California after the war."

Joe enlisted on the west coast, and went along on the 2800-mile trip from Seattle to Kiska. ("Monahan's right; I'll take a sleeping bag over blankets any time.")

Clean Up Ragweed To Beat Hay Fever

Civic organizations throughout Massachusetts today were embarked on a drive to uproot ragweed and bring freedom from hay fever in this area, declared to be the greatest haven for sufferers.

The hay fever season is almost here and soon thousands of sufferers all over the country east of the Rocky Mountains will begin that agonizing ordeal that ends only when cold weather drives plant and grass pollen from the air.

The only sections of the nation where hay fever is unknown are the northern Great Lakes region, northern New England, southern Florida and the far West. Boston is one of the spots where sufferers find relief, as well as all coastal areas of the North and South shores.

Based on a nation-wide survey of pollen counts, the following cities are given their ratings: Buffalo, N. Y., 100; Chicago, 74; Cleveland, 68; Detroit, 57; Washington, 40; New York, 30, and Boston, only 15.

The hay fever sufferer coughs and sneezes almost continually while the late summer pollen is present. There are about 130,000 different kinds of pollen, but ragweed is the cause of 85 per cent of the hay fever.

About 20 per cent of hay fever sufferers can be desensitized by concentrated extracts of the kind of pollen to which they are allergic. About 50 per cent of them can be relieved.

Civic organizations of every type, with Boy and Girl Scouts among the leaders, have aided in making Greater Boston and most of Massachusetts a spot where such sufferers can find relief.

Outlaw Poison Gas In Politics

One of the unspeakably brutal and barbaric Japanese have used poison gas in this war. Cowardly and shamefully the Japanese have used poison gas against an honest and honorable foe—the Chinese, who could not and would not retaliate.

Before all humanity, living and to live, the Japanese stand condemned and hated.

But they do not stand entirely alone.

With them are certain individuals and factions in our own country which are also using poison gas.

Not the kind that chokes and strangles women and children, but an equally harmful kind calculated to blacken political opponents' characters, to destroy their good names and to injure their reputations and those of their children and children's children for ever after.

This kind of poison gas is being used abundantly in the Suffolk County sheriff's contest.

It is being used particularly against School Committeeman Michael J. Ward, one of the fairest, squarest and best men that Boston politics has produced in this generation.

It is being used in desperation, and, in the absence of decent arguments, in an effort to deprive him of the nomination which he will surely receive in tomorrow's primary election if justice prevails over the injustice of character assassins.

Aroused and angered by the spectacle of Americans stooping to deceit and deception, thousands of voters in Suffolk County are speaking vigorously and effectively for Michael J. Ward.

One of them is Dr. Martin H. Spellman, illustrious brother of the great Archbishop, who has said:

"Notwithstanding that at this very moment, when millions of our American boys are laying down their lives, if need be, in order that American ideals of decency and fair-dealing may endure, there have been sent through the mails, signed with a name THAT IS NOT REGISTERED AS A VOTER AT THE GIVEN ADDRESS and WITHOUT A UNION LABEL, the most vicious circulars ever to appear in the history of Boston.

"This dastardly, last-minute attack on School Committeeman Michael J. Ward is REVOLTING to all decent, respectable people.

"I therefore ask all who believe, as I believe, to repudiate this vicious act, and its cowardly perpetrators, by voting for one whom I am proud to call my friend, MICHAEL J. WARD, DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE FOR SHERIFF OF SUFFOLK COUNTY."

Dr. Spellman's plea will not go unheeded. Fair-minded, justice-loving Suffolk County has little use for character assassins.

And less use for reputation-destroying poison gas.

MICHAEL J. WARD

Washington Scene . . . By George Dixon

(Distributed by King Features Synd., Inc. Reproduction in Whole or in Part Strictly Prohibited.)

WASHINGTON, July 10—As one who loves to squeal and holler copper at the slightest opportunity, I take unholly glee in tipping off Attorney-General Francis Biddle to a big gambling den that is operating right in the heart of the capital.

This joint, which is located at 1317 H st., NW, not only is conducting a lottery, in contravention of the laws of the United States and the District of Columbia, but is employing U. S. currency and bonds in its dastardly malfeasances.

This den, which may be more familiarly known to the attorney-general as the Washington Times-Herald, is doing its law-breaking with the full knowledge of its management. In other words, it is acting knowingly, willfully, and with premeditation.

If this isn't practically a capital crime, then I haven't learned anything from district attorneys at murder trials.

Every day of the week, except Sunday, this seafowl outfit is raffling off United States War Bonds!

ON LEARNING of this operation—the organization is so far steeped in crime that it doesn't even try to hide it—I consulted J. Irving Belt, the publication's mechanical superintendent.

"It is all too true," he confessed. "Furthermore, you may say that the printers, with whom I come in closest contact, are the worst offenders."

Mr. Belt, who is obviously a brazen type—and I don't mean

21-point Cheltenham bold—said he knew of no better way to sell extra War Bonds.

"Printers, for instance, are great hands at chance-taking," he continued, thereby indicting an entire craft. "Generally speaking they need to be exhorted to buy War Bonds, although they are all very patriotic."

"However, the minute we put Bonds up at raffle they almost mobbed us to buy chances!"

"We have raffled off a $1000 bond and smaller bonds every day. And for three straight days now the composing room has copied all the prizes."

"This is not as great a coincidence as you may think. It happens that the printers bought more than 70 per cent of the tickets."

Mr. BELT SAID he had been giving the matter intense thought and could see no reason why War Bond lotteries couldn't be conducted by the Government.

Chances could be sold at postoffices and other accredited places all over the country," he said. "The number of extra bonds that would be sold this way would be staggering."

"For instance, a person goes into a postoffice to buy a $25 bond. It comes to $18.75. The purchaser probably pays with a $20 bill, getting back $1.25 in change."

"So he hands back a dollar and says, 'Give me a ticket on the Bond raffle!'"

Mr. Belt is a remarkable man in many ways. In addition to being a type expert, he composes sonnets.

Recently he was given a testimonial dinner to celebrate his 30th year on the paper. He was greatly touched.

"This is a wonderful thing," he said, his voice throbbing. "The editorial department, in particular, has marked the occasion well. For the first time in 30 years it has refused to give me a free pass to the baseball parks!"

LIKE ALL great men, Arthur Godfrey, the distinguished radio commentator, has a hobby. It is cooking.

I called Mr. Godfrey to ask what was going on in the great world. He said:

"The biggest thing today is my new recipe. It is this:

"Take a pot roast. Put it in the oven until it is a tempting brown."

"Then baste it with a quart of rye. Add vermouth as flavoring and cook one hour."

"When it is done you will have a luscious pot roast. But, oh baby! What gracy!"

MR. GODFREY, who, strangely enough, does not resemble either Escoffier or Savarin, is also wondering whether the U. S. Navy took a dirty crack at him.

He went down some time ago to be examined for a possible commission. The Navy doctor thumped him over and then commented to colleagues:

"Godfrey here is practically an old man. All he needs is whisky!"

NOTE OF APOLOGY just received from Mrs. Page Dougherty:

"I am sorry I was so short with you the other day. Next time I will wear stiffs!"

The equipment of a United States Army chaplain consists of a portable organ that weighs about 50 pounds, a lot of hymn books, a field desk and a chaplain's flag. The sermons of Army chaplains never last more than 15 minutes.

BRIEFLY: The Star Gazers say a husband born under the sign of Cancer (June 22 to July 23) can be of great help to his wife around the house. Our Mules & Men Department is checking on this. . . .

Young women of 21 and under, seem to be pursuing the male more vigorously than ever. This is generally bad for the female sex. It lessens the respect of men for women. All mothers should try to instill a "hard to get" technique in their daughters.

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, July 10—The highly successful Gerv-trude Niesen musical, "Follow the Girls," will be filmed by Ben Bogeus, head of General Service Studio. David Wolper, the producer, has been here talking price to Bogeus and the money paid is said to be $300,000.

Wolper will assist in the production of the picture, and that probably means a percentage deal as well as a flat sum.

An effort will be made to get Miss Niesen to play the role she created on the stage. But because the play is going such great guns on Broadway, it will not be produced until next year. The deal is for the run of the play. P. S. Wonder if the censors will let Gertie get by with her sensational song, "I Want to Get Married?"

A ROUND TABLE of five is expected to be the last word at Paramount Studio in the selection of stories and the settlement of all problems. The board will consist of Y. Frank Freeman, Henry Ginsberg, William Dozier, William Michaelohn and a writer to be selected. Heretofore, Buddy de Sylva has selected all plays and made the directorial assignments, but now that Buddy has asked to be relieved of that job and has decided to make two pictures a year it is necessary for someone to be in charge. When a director has a reason why he doesn't want to do certain stories it will be brought up at the round table meeting. I imagine these will be stories exclusive of C. B. De Mille, Hal Wallis, Buddy de Sylva and William Wilder, who choose their own.

LANA TURNER isn't a jealous gal or she wouldn't have Frances Gifford in two pictures in a row. Frances is one of the prettiest girls in town and is tres chic besides. Not long ago she finished "Marriage Is a Private Affair" with Lana, and now goes into one of the three top spots in Metro's "WAC" picture. This is the yarn that took Anita Loos back to Des Moines for first-hand material and which was once scheduled for Joan Crawford. No title is set. But since there are three girls involved, how about "A WAC, A WAC and a WAC?"

WHAT LOOKED LIKE a disappearing act on the part of Olivia De Havilland turns out to be something else. Olivia has been in the hospital a week and entered so quietly many of her best friends knew nothing about it. For some time she has felt run down and badly in need of a rest and a physical check-up, so she went to Good Samaritan. Meanwhile, several scripts Olivia has been considering will have to wait until she feels well. Among those who have talked to her about making a picture is Dudley Nichols.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Betty Hutton made it possible for three Marine sergeants, Ray Doherty, Charles Monica and Lionel Ober, to collect $100. The Marines bragged they could date Betty and their company, stationed in the South Pacific, took them up and bet $100 they couldn't. Well, the three, invalidated home, telephoned Betty of the bet. She invited them to the studio and bought their dinner. I happened on the set of "Here Comes the WAVES," which Betty is doing with Bing Crosby, when she told me the story. Said Betty, "We had pictures taken and I signed an affidavit I had gone out to dinner with them."

"When are they gonna start teaching us the stuff she knows?"

CARY GRANT lunched with Sari Wood on Saturday to discuss "Jubal Troop," the story Gary Cooper had planned to do before he decided to produce a picture for Bill Goetz. Negotiations are on with Cary to play the lead, and he liked the Wood treatment enough to be interested. That's plenty of liking, for last week he was so busy advising Barbara Hutton Grant about her young son Lance he refused to discuss any movie.

A LINE OR TWO: Someone sent me a telegram signed with Van Johnson's name saying he wanted to see me "urgent—important and immediate." After tracking him down, I found the message was anonymous. A report has been circulated that Van is secretly married to June Allyson. But this he denies and so does she. Jesse Lasky telephoned to say Sir Aubrey Smith is mistaken about the speech he made at Oxford being cut in "Mark Twain."—and I hope that ends that.

THIS I LOVE: Buddy De Sylva was talking over "Lost Weekend" with Billy Wilder. De Sylva was emphasizing that a very good reason must be established as to why Don Birman, the hero, becomes a drunkard. Wilder thought it over very seriously for a minute or two and then said: "We'll just establish him as a writer under contract to Paramount!"

SNAPSNOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Charlie Howard, son of the "Seabiscuit" Howard, has a broken collarbone. Believe it or not, he fell out of bed; Dorothy Lamour has been very sick with a chest cold and is temporarily out of "Medals for Benny"; Henry Fonda is on the intelligence staff of Adm. Hoover; the romance of Doris Nolan and Cpl. Mike Harvey of the "Winged Victory" company is today's news; Louis E. Mayer has bought the home of Vic O'Sullivan in Tel Aviv; Sydney Greenstreet's M. D. has ordered him to take a month's rest; Commando Kelly, a Hollywood visitor, has been seeing our town and give the glamorous girls as Jean Blondell and Dorothy McGuire; Evelyn McCrea denies the rumor she will wed MacCoo; Ethel Barrymore is being urged to go on a lecture tour and give the life; the report that Madam Duspenkaya is seriously ill is not true.

JEAN HEATHER forgot to tell her producer she was away marrying John Stockton and there was a wild search for her to do the scene in "Murder, He Says," at Paramount; Fred Dagg returns to M-G-M as casting head while Bill Grady devotes all his time to finding talent; Doris Kenyon and the Nelson Eddy's entertained the Beverly Wilshire Officers' Club at Doris' Brentwood home; Kay Williams, who went to Palm Springs to get rid of a sinus infection, spent all her time at the military hospital. That's all today.

"I was thinkin'..." by Izzy Ort

Fokes dis is Jess er about the best advice I can give. Buy more War Bonds! Uncle Sam is calling... and wot are we goin' to do about it? Whaddaya-say we all pitch in and dig, deep and hard, fer that foldin' green stuff. After all, our military leaders have told us that Adolph the Awful is on the slide, so let's all get behind and push, coz every bond we buy gets him to the bottom Jess a little bit sooner... Every bond we buy means a little less bloodshed, a few less casualties and broken hearts, a quicker trip home fer da boys doin' the work... Every bond we buy hastens the extermination of the yellow "slants" now infesting the Pacific, every bond we buy brings home, safe and sound, a higher percentage of the good American sons, husbands, sweethearts and fathers... And here is somethin' else to remember; all over the world our boys are WINNING a big fight, they're out AHEAD in the nastiest job and most dangerous job anybody ever faced. What are they goin' to think if, here on the home front, with all our comforts and luxuries, if you feel like I do, you don't want that guy in the foxhole to think you're lettin' your half slide. So whaddayasay, shall we dig? Or's the Grill and El Tropico Room, Boston. Adv.

Thin Vegetable Plants Now

By FOSTER H. WEISS

Head of Vegetable Garden Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School, and Director of the Boston American-Advertiser Demonstration Garden on Boston Common.

Vegetables that have not been thinned properly are beginning to grow weak and spindly, and must be cared for at once if healthy plants are expected. Roots need plenty of moisture and plant food, as well as light and air circulation, and they cannot get it if crops are too crowded.

All of these points are effected by proper spacing which must be done by thinning. Unless this thinning is done soon some gardens are going to be in trouble with disease.

The hot weather has brought on another group of insects to bother the Victory Gardeners. This group is mainly sucking insects such as the Aphids or Plant Lice and Leaf Hoppers. These insects are small and hard to find, but they are already attacking tomatoes. Last year due to hot weather some gardens were severely set back because of Aphids. Start the control early for best results.

Spray or dust with either nicotine sulphate or nicotine dust. Be sure the underneath side of the leaf is covered as this is where sucking insects work. Do not give these insects a chance to accumulate on the plant.

Maine Liquor Sales Set Record for Year

AUGUSTA, Me., July 10 (AP)—Revenue from the state liquor monopoly during the fiscal year ended June 30 exceeded that of any previous year, Julian Mossman, state finance commissioner, said today.

Gross sales totaled $15,997,101.97, nearly two and a half million dollars more than for the previous fiscal year, Mossman said.

OLIVIA AMES, 25-year-old heiress to the $1,000,000 fortune of the late Oliver Ames of No. Easton, and daughter of Lt. Oliver Ames Jr., who lost his life in France in 1918, is to become the bride of Lt. Wm. deForest Manice Jr., USNR. Their engagement is announced by her mother, Mrs. Edward L. Bigelow and Lt. Col. Bigelow of Chestnut Hill and Coolidge Point, Manchester.

For several years Olivia has been one of the most popular and cheerful Nurses' Aides working faithfully at Peter Bent Brigham. She graduated from Winsor, belongs to the Vincent Club and was presented to society at a beautiful rose ball given at the Somerset in 1937 by her Fessenden grandparents on the 26th anniversary of her mother's debut in the same ballroom. She is a petite and charming brunette.

Her fiancé is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. deF. Manice of Old Westbury, L. I., and Newport, a graduate of St. Mark's and Yale and now on duty in the Pacific.

Olivia has many wealthy and adoring relatives among Boston's inner social circles and through her mother is related to Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth and the late George C. Lee who headed the famous old banking firm of Lee Higginson.

ANOTHER ROMANCE of a Lee Higginson descendant is that of Barbara Wendell Soule, granddaughter of the late Francis Lee Higginson of Boston. Saturday afternoon she became the bride of Chester Brooks Kerr of Washington at a small family wedding at Homewood, Hamilton summer estate of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Barrett Wendell.

Mrs. Kerr is a graduate of Milton Academy and attended the Sorbonne. For several years she has been an historian for the OWI in Washington where her bridegroom was former chief of the book bureau and now attached to the overseas branch of OWI. Mrs.

Olivia Ames to Wed Naval Officer

OLIVIA AMES—Her engagement announced.

Kerr's first marriage was to Horace Soule of Brookline.

WEDDING BELLS will soon be chiming for Denise Cleveland Sassons of New Orleans and Lt. Carl Dreyfus, Jr., USA, of Boston, whose engagement is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Goldstein. The bride-to-be graduated from Metairie Park Country Day School and attended Newcomb College, New Orleans, where she belonged to Pi Beta Phi.

Lt. Dreyfus, son of Mr. Carl Dreyfus of Dartmouth st. and Thorn Hedge, Marblehead, and the late Mrs. Sylvia Goulston Dreyfus, graduated from Rivers and Harvard 1939. He belongs to the Harvard Club and is attached to the Army Transportation Corps. He is a brother of Capt. Edward G. Dreyfus, USA, and Mrs. Charles Hays of New York.

U. S. Fights Infantile Epidemic in Carolina

WASHINGTON, July 10 (INS)

—The U. S. Public Health Service moved today to check an infantile paralysis epidemic which has killed 241 North Carolinians in 46 days and resulted in seven deaths.

The outbreak, which began in Charlotte, June 1, has spread through 12 counties and is said to be moving slowly north and south. In that city, prison inmates were working with residents to put up tents and temporary buildings, and to complete conversion of a lodge building where 84 patients are now lying.

WARD

VETERAN OF WORLD WAR I
DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE

for SHERIFF OF SUFFOLK COUNTY

Following editorial is reprinted from Boston Daily Record:

A GOOD PUBLIC SERVANT

Michael J. Ward, popular and progressive Boston School Committee member, has announced his candidacy for Sheriff of Suffolk County.

The voters would have to look far to find as good a man for this important office.

Mr. Ward's long and useful career in the State Legislature and Municipal Government is a qualification that should recommend him for the promotion he has earned and deserves.

Certainly Massachusetts has few men more interested in the welfare of all the people or more kindly disposed to those who need a helping hand.

In the School Committee Mr. Ward sponsored the physical fitness program which has been such a splendid success, obtained necessary facilities for handicapped children, secured hot lunches for needy pupils and championed the youth center movement which is effectively combating juvenile delinquency.

Public service as Mr. Ward has always interpreted and practiced it is an all-day and all-night job. His almost daily visits to hospitals, police courts, asylums and wherever else petitioners need his assistance are proverbial.

But such a conscientious devotion to a trust inevitably brings a reward.

In Mr. Ward's case we believe it will be nomination and election as Suffolk County's Sheriff.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

HYDE PARK, SUNDAY—It is curious, when the news is so full of the loss of human life and when we are so accustomed to the harm that can be done to the civilian population by robot bombs and bombings of all kinds, that we should react with such horror when we read of an accident such as the one in Hartford, Ct.

Perhaps it is because so many of us remember the joy of our childhood in seeing a circus under a tent. The realization that it can turn into such scenes as those which the papers describe makes one recoil in horror.

One can only hope that in the future every precaution will be taken to prevent such disasters. The loss of life which occurs unnecessarily, and which one feels might have been prevented, just adds to the world's burden of sorrow.

AGAIN TWO BASES in Japan have been bombed. Little by little, in its homeland, that country is going to know the same kind of horror which has been visited upon the Axis countries of Europe, and which Japan itself has meted out to so many peaceful and unsuspecting people.

But for the papers and the radio, I would be almost inclined, sometimes, to forget the war up here. The woods are so quiet, the brooks murmur just as cheerfully and the flowers bloom as bravely, as if all the world were as peaceful as this little spot on the Hudson.

YESTERDAY WE HAD a picnic for 25 very active small boys. They spent an hour in the library, and we hope they derived some educational benefits there. Then, the real interest of the day centered on food. One small boy came to me and said: "I have eaten seven helpings of ice cream and had three glasses of lemonade; I think I have a tummy ache."

After lunch we told them they all had to rest, so we gathered them under a tree and I read them Kipling's story of how the elephant got his trunk, which they seemed to enjoy.

THEN WE HAD games and races, and they left me at 3 o'clock, saying that as soon as they got back to camp they were going to have a swim. Their crowning joy was that each carried a prize for some feat he accomplished during the games. The tug-of-war seemed to be the most successful of all. I discovered that the lawn sloped a little in one direction, so I made the teams change places each time, and thereby managed to see that everybody got at least one prize.

Resignations Discouraged

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

Should I become dissatisfied with my work in the WAVES, may I resign? I am thinking of resigning, but it worries me when I think I may not like it. E. F.

In wartime, resignations in the WAVES are discouraged. A letter to your commanding officer, requesting discharge and stating your reasons, would be forwarded for consideration. However, unless an emergency has arisen since you joined the service, it is unlikely that your request would be granted.

More Trim Coats for Fall

By BETTINA BEDWELL

IT IS possible to look ahead and say what some of our fall fashions are going to be and I can tell you that there will be more trim elegant, fitted coats come cold weather. The casual, loose toppler is going to be around, but the other neater and more dainty moulded coat will be newer.

To show you what the lines of this coat are going to be I have chosen the Mambacher coat in our sketch, and there's no better source of high fashion than this at any time. This navy blue wool coat is slim, restrained and as elegant as a duchess in every line. The simulated bolero with clear white pique revers gives it a very personal look.

White pique gloves and a white pique tickle inside the neckline go far to make this coat tops in daintiness and charm.

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

TOOTSIES ACHE AND BURN these hot-pavement pounding days? Your two feet must stand you in good stead . . . and if they're sore and weary . . . Sister, your day is ruined. Isn't it the truth?

Funny how easily a perfectly grand disposition can be spoiled if the "walkies" have had a hard time of it. They seem to send an SOS to the face . . . and the expression takes on that pinched, weary look of fatigue and crush.

LOOKS LIKE A PEACH FRAPPE

But all that is necessary is to soothe the feet back to cooling and refreshing normality. If you find your feet are in a tense state . . . if the shoes, though large and ample, seem to cramp your walking style because the heat has swollen your pedal extremities into a state of taxing discomfort . . . give your treaders a great, big drink of a luscious-looking medication.

The lotion . . . which reminds me of a peach frappe . . . dries instantly on the feet after a thorough rubbing . . . and gives almost instant relief. This delightful, new cooling lotion is the beauty-hair of a noted beautician . . . and you'll find it so fast-working . . . that promptly you'll smile again.

GRAND AND GLORIOUS FEELING

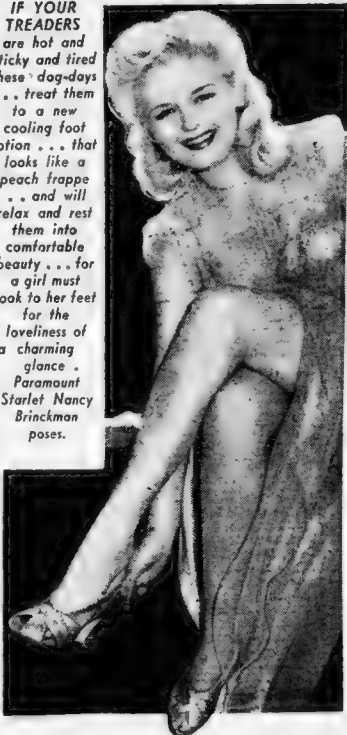

The moment the lotion touches the treaders . . . comes the grand and glorious feeling that they've been stuck into a bucket of ice cubes . . . it is that effective and refreshing. Compounded from rich oils . . . and blended with softening ingredients as menthol and camphor . . . the soothing foot lotion is a much-welcomed answer to any girl's hot, sweaty, tired and aching feet.

Soothe your walkers with this cooling treat . . . and be happy in your next day's round-about excursions . . . with nary a care or a thought of the sweltering heat to rob your entire carriage of spontaneity and quick movement.

For the name of this cooling foot lotion, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

IF YOUR TREADERS

are hot and sticky and tired these dog-days . . . treat them to a new cooling foot lotion . . . that looks like a peach frappe . . . and will relax and rest them into comfortable beauty . . . for a girl must look to her feet for the loveliness of a charming glance . Paramount Starlet Nancy Brinkman poses.

This Bride Would Finish School

DEAR MRS. BECKMAN:

In 1934 I started my senior year in high school, and then I left school to get married. Now I would like to finish my school and get my diploma. Do you think I would be allowed to re-enter school next September? I want to do this with all my heart.

M. B.

Good for you, M. B.—yours is a fine ideal, and I'm sure that in some way you'll be given this chance to get your diploma, which, as you've apparently found out, is so often the open sesame to entrance into certain services and for other opportunities. Your first step is to go to see, at once, the principal of the school you attended and I'm sure he'll advise you and guide you with not only professional, but human, co-operation and understanding.

Boost Summer Menus

By MARTHA LEE

WHEN SUMMER APPETITES begin to lag, it's time to introduce a new note into your menus. Many a famous restaurant knows the trick of giving old combinations a sweet side-kick. Meat-stuffed peppers and green beans are good, but add a serving of Kentucky fried apples, and you have a trio that's better. Or take the ordinary New England Saturday night supper of baked beans and ham—then serve an extra of Rhubarb Conserve.

RHUBARB CONSERVE

2 cups rhubarb, finely diced
1 1/2 cups sugar
1 cup seedless raisins
1 large onion, grated and juice

1-3 cup walnuts or pecans

Combine all ingredients in a saucepan. Bring to a boil and simmer about 35 to 40 minutes or until thick. Serve with baked beans and ham.

Don't let the exotic sounding chutney frighten you. Chutneys are the simplest things in the world to prepare once you learn their secret. It's true that certain authentic chutneys call for strange ingredients, but we can also make a Victory Garden Chutney out of ripe tomatoes.

If you have a copper-clad stainless steel skillet or sauce pan, be sure to use it for your conserves and relishes so there will be no danger of burning.

VICTORY GARDEN CHUTNEY

3 medium-size tomatoes
2 medium-size onions
1-3 cup seedless raisins
1-3 cup brown sugar, tightly packed
1-3 cup vinegar
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. celery salt
1/2 tsp. allspice
1/2 tsp. cloves
1/2 tsp. ginger
1 or 2 cloves garlic

Chop tomatoes and onions, and put in a saucepan. Add raisins, chopped or whole. Combine with brown sugar, vinegar, salt and spices. Mince garlic and add. Bring to a boil and simmer for 30 to 40 minutes, or until thick. Serve with cold cuts and potato salad.

Rationing Timetable appears on Tuesdays and Fridays.

Broadway

By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK, July 10—If I have a secret passion, it is—besides emeralds—Jimmy Durante. But I guess that's no secret. Anyway, he's at it today.—D. K.

JIMMY DURANTE SAYS: I can't do without Broadway! That's what I said. I can't do without Broadway. That ain't the way I sing it, but that's the way I mean it. Now before I go any further, I want you to understand one thing. This ain't Durante, that well-dressed quipster, talking.

As I was saying before I so rudely interrupted myself, think of me here not as a convulsing Syranose, but as Jimmy, the man on the street. You know what happens to the man on the street, don't you? Unless he waits for a green light, he's a goner!

THIS IS WHY I love Broadway like a mother. This is why when anyone throws stones at its name, they hit me right on the old schnozzle. Most of all Broadway is dependable. You can bet your last dollar the book-maker didn't bet that Broadway is going to be either hot box, loud or quiet, hard or soft. Broadway is the best street in the world because it never pretends to be what it isn't. It's all the main streets in America, jammed into a few blocks. It's fame and shame. Click and cluck. Lago Umbrigo.

Sure, you say, why shouldn't the guy give Broadway a rave? It's always treated him great. Well, I'm for the street for a lot of other reasons than that. For its people and its places and its things.

I can't do without Broadway because, well, let's face it, because it's full of so many horse-players. If you laid all the horses I've been betting on lately end to end—it would be none too soon! Some of the nags, though, have lost by only a nose. Many's the time I'd have gladly changed profiles with them to give us a smell at the winner's money.

BROADWAY IS PEOPLE: Mae West, Ed East, "Mr. and Mrs. Eddie South . . . Roses like Billy, Broadway and Peter de . . . Harts like Moss, Margie and Teddy . . . Berles like Milton and his mother . . . Press agents, swoon singers, cover girls—they fascinate me. Strip-teasers—they unfascinate themselves! Birds like Bob Hawk, Jack Robbins, Russell Swann and Ursula Parrott . . . Song writers still trying to top Berlin, Gershwin, Porter, Kern and the author of "Inka Dinka Doo." The Broadway gang at Lindy's and Duffy's Tavern.

BROADWAY IS PLACES: Meeting places like the Astor lobby for everybody or Hansen's drug store for the others . . . Newsreel theaters, fruit juice joints, newsstands, canteens, delicatessens, doughnut emporiums like flagships for the industry . . . Dime stores, two-by-four hat shops, bowling alleys, sport places, (penny-and-up arcades to you), beauty shops, Hollywood studio headquarters, movie houses, especially on 42nd st., between 7th and 8th; eating places for every nationality.

Star Shine

By Sidney Skolsky

HOLLYWOOD, July 10—Rita Hayworth and Janet Blair are huddled together in the cellar of a theater, supposedly during a bombing. It is a sequence for the picture, "Tonight and Every Night," which is about the theater in London which remained open during the blitz, despite all the bombings.

Miss Baxter looks up intently at a moment, then nods. "You're right," she says. Everybody in the group taking shelter in the cellar, and that includes soldiers and sailors on leave, relaxes.

"I wish I had my make-up off and was home in bed," says a chorus girl.

"Wishing won't get you there," says a soldier.

"Nor you either, chum," adds a sailor.

Director Victor Saville calls out, "Ok, that's it. All you people were excellent, but I believe we'll have to do it over again. There was too much off-scene noise."

"Yes, but isn't there a bombing going on outside?" asks Miss Hayworth.

"You're correct," says Director Saville, "but our bombs have to fall on cue."

ANNE BAXTER is relaxing on the set of "Guest In The House," waiting to play the next scene. "This is a nice way to work," says Anne. "I remember when I was in the theater. Then I was a nervous character. Eva Le Gallienne taught me a lot about acting and how to behave."

Miss Baxter made her professional debut in Le Gallienne's production of "Madame Carpent." Except for training by Mme. Ouspenskaya and a summer in stock, she had no previous dramatic experience. During rehearsals of "Madame Carpent," Miss Baxter tried her best to hide her anxiety. On the night of the dress rehearsal, Le Gallienne noticed Anne Baxter's nervousness.

Between the first and second act, she called Miss Baxter to her dressing room. "I can see that you're nervous," said Le Gallienne. "Now I know you're not nervous about your part or your acting, because you've done well with both. So you must be nervous about 'them' out there. Well, let me tell you something about audiences. Audiences are like little puppies—you have to let them know who's boss from the very first moment. You train them to obey by the sound of your voice. They'll wag their tails, go to the corner, sit up and beg if you tell them to. You can do it if you don't let your voice waver. Just remember—an audience like a puppy is there to be mastered."

MISS BAXTER sat on the set relaxed. She has the puppy trained.

Boston After Dark

"RUGGED IS THE WORD for which the war has won the most circulation . . . Arki-Yavensonne, the former Boston hotel manager, has not quit his Florida job, as rumor has it . . . Instead, Arki- has launched the summer season with a July 4 opening that brought out Daytona society in force . . . Buddy De Sylva, production head of Paramount, has resumed song-writing. Buddy's first tune in some time is a honey called "Another Kiss" . . . He was the lyric-writer of the famous De Sylva, Brown and Henderson trio . . . They wrote the scores of many hit musicals of the twenties, including "Good News," "Follow Thru" and "Hold Everything" . . . And most of the George White's Scandals . . . Jimmy McHugh, the Boston song-writer who led all Tin Pan Alley graduates in 1942 in sales and hits, has been hired by Sam Goldwyn to do the score of "The Princess and the Pirate" . . . Bob Hope will play the pirate—in technicolor.

HOPE'S NEW BOOK "I Never Left Home" has this gag—short and with a jibe at Bob . . . "I was really worried on that trip to Sicily," writes Robert. "It was the way the wound-gunner kept scanning the sky . . . The gunner kept looking downy around and the looking downy back again . . . If there any trouble," I said, "I've handled a 50-mm. machine gun. I'll man a gun." The Sergeant said, "Thanks! But who've gonna get to man you?"

CRITIQUE: The current Latin Quarter show—without a star name—is a sparkling, colorful and brilliant melange of entertainment. If such a show can't buck the heat and the tax successfully, it would seem that the night club business locally is in a very bad way.

EXCLUSIVE: Latest fakery in Boston are "bootleg" cabs, believe it or not . . . Painted to resemble one of the biggest company's cabs, at least two of the imposters are cruising the streets . . . The driver's card is faked, and the place where a police regulation makes it mandatory to display the driver's picture, is empty . . . With new taxi licenses unobtainable, and with "medallions" (the taxi license) selling at an all-time high of $2000-and-up, the boom in the taxi business makes the bogus cabs a profitable racket.

THE REGULARS AT L STREET have formed an inner circle of Brownies which the boys spoofingly call the "Oxford Group" . . . Tom Horby, the most beloved of the Brownies because of his marvellous spirit under the handicap of total blindness, will make his annual pilgrimage to the Shrine of St. Ann de Beaupre today . . . Tom was given a going-away party with a medal inscribed in Braille testifying to the admiration of his fellow-Brownies.

ADD ANOTHER "HUSTON" to the list of Betty, Marion and Ina Ray . . . She is June, Ina Ray's kid sister, who takes Jo Stafford's spot with the Pied Pipers, the vocalists . . . The Boston syndicate which just laid $5,400,000 in cash on the line to buy San Francisco's famous Saint Francis Hotel is dickering for one of Beverly Hills' two famous hotels . . . Ben Swing, David Stowman and chain-store operator who dislikes seeing his name in print are among the syndicate members.

CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

Ortiz Hits Harder Than Willie Pep

By JACK CONWAY

MANUEL ORTIZ will have to rely upon his punch to gain the honors over Willie Pep in their ten-round bout at National League Park on next Monday night under the direction of the Eddie Mack-Jack O'Brien Callahan A. C. Pep is considered the better boxer of the two champions, but when it comes to firing punches packed with dynamite Ortiz has a decided margin in his favor.

Tommy Farmer says Ortiz will be an improved fighter over his winning tussle with Larry Bolvin. Ortiz got off to a slow start in the Bolvin bout and he was obliged to put on a blazing finish in the last two rounds to gain the verdict.

It is seldom that a boxer has looked as impressive in a Willie Pep Boston ring as Ortiz did in the ninth round of his tussle with Bolvin. He crowded the Providence boxer at all times, and dropped him to the canvas with a crashing right hand punch to the jaw.

"Ortiz will box as fast against Pep from the opening round as he did in the ninth and tenth sessions in his battle with Bolvin," said Manager Tommy Farmer. "Pep proved he is one of the greatest little men the ring game has known when he won seven out of ten rounds from Joyce in Chicago.

"I think Ortiz is as fast as Pep and his equal as a boxer. In the matter of punching, the odds are decidedly in favor of Ortiz. He has a chance to knock out Pep with either hand."

Pep, fresh from his Chicago triumph over Willie Joyce, will arrive in Boston tomorrow and will complete his training for Pep in this city.

$200,000 for Charity

IT IS EXPECTED that the last week of racing at Suffolk Downs will raise $200,000 for charity. The six days of racing will be staged under the direction of the National War Fund, and the entire profits will go to war charities.

A year ago three weeks of charity racing at Suffolk Downs netted $835,000 for charity. It was possible to conduct three weeks of racing in view of the fact Rockingham Park was un-

Yacht Enthusiasm Rises With Bang

By JOHN AHERN

The boom is on. In one short week yacht racing has come out from under its war-time wraps and has once again taken its true picture in the sports world.

The recent back to its old time form wasn't a gradual process, as was expected with the culmination of the climb due shortly after the last gun was fired in the war. It was more like a bombshell and the big burst came a week ago yesterday.

On that Sunday morning an interclub was scheduled at Squantum, and the usual Quincy Bay fleet was expected to participate—but nothing else could be figured on crossing the zone lines hemming in the bay completely.

But word got around that the regulations had been relaxed and the racers came from South Boston, Cottage Park and Hingham Bay soaring the total to 74 starters.

That was just a start. South Boston held its 76th annual Fourth of July regatta—last year it was held for tradition's sake—and 89 boats were on hand to answer the guns. Then yesterday the largest fleet in three years helped the Merrymount Club bring the Quin-able to hold its summer meeting on account of transportation restrictions.

The week of charity racing this year is part of the regular 60 days of the Suffolk Downs meeting. Pres. Gordon B. Hanlon is of the opinion that with the $50,000 Massachusetts Handicap listed for July 19 and the $25,000 Mayflower Stakes set for July 22 that the charity week should be one of record breaking crowds and soaring mutual handles.

Raynham Aids Veterans

RUSS MURRAY's Raynham dog track will complete its generous aid to the veterans of this war when it stages another race for the Disabled Veterans Fund tomorrow night. It will be the last night of the meeting, and a banner crowd is expected to be on hand to witness the racing.

Representatives of the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Air Corps will be at Raynham tomorrow night in view of the fact one race will be for the Disabled Veterans Fund.

Random Shots at Target

TWO MORE weeks and the racing picture will shift to Rockingham Park... Lou Smith says he will have some of the best stables in the East on hand for his opening... John Turner, racing secretary at Rockingham Park, is expected to be named a steward at Narragansett Park.

Louis Fails to Show, Disappoints 1000

GLASGOW, Scotland, July 10 (AP)—More than 1000 persons who waited outside the American Red Cross Club yesterday to welcome Joe Louis, heavyweight boxing champion from the United States, were disappointed when the champion failed to show up. Nate Andrews May Get Call in All-Star Game

By FRED HOEY

Happily to record Boston ball players for many years have furnished the pyrotechnics for the annual All-Star game between the American and National Leagues. They have busted the games wide open. Notable examples are Max West, Ted Williams and Bobby Doerr.

In the All-Star game tomorrow to be played at Forbes Field, Pittsburgh, Boston furnishes pitchers for both sides who should be standouts. We all expect Tex Hughson will be simply great.

Not to make it too tough on Tex, we believe all New England fandom would be tickled foolish to see that grand prodigal son, Nate Andrews, of the Braves, deliver a noteworthy effort for the National Leaguers. Any ball player, or any man, who can survive and overcome the terrific going-over this Andrews was subjected to last spring deserves the plaudits of everybody. It wouldn't make me mad if he pitched no-hit no-run ball while he's in there tomorrow.

It was expected that either Jim Tobin or Al Lavery would get the follow-up nod from Manager Billy Southworth in tomorrow's Pittsburgh tilt. This is very doubtful, since both appeared in yesterday's doubleheader with the Cards.

Offensively the Red Sox send some tall sluggers into this All-Star affair. Bobby Doerr, Bob Johnson and Pete Fox aren't hard to take in anybody's league. Then, too, Joe Cronin appears as a coach.

What a sweet chance for Manager Joe to work on those National League umpires in preparation for the next World Series here. If, when and how.

The Doerr-Johnson-Fox trio form an attacking force that Messrs. Bucky Walters and Nate Andrews, and whoever follows Nate, will have to treat with caution. They are the Red Sox robots. We send them to Pittsburgh, not to destroy life and property, but to bring runs across that old platter.

Cheer leading for Pitcher Nate Andrews of the Braves as the first line of defense on one hand and in the same breath stressing the attacking power of Doerr, Fox and Johnson of the Red Sox places us squarely behind the eight ball.

So let the chips and base hits fall where they may; we'll settle for a 12-inning tie.

Hughson, Borowy to Face Walter in All-Star Game

PITTSBURGH, July 10 (AP)—Bucky Walters of Cincinnati looms as the probable National League starting pitcher in the 12th annual all-star game tomorrow night at

NATE ANDREWS Ready for All-Star Test

Forbes Field with Marse Joe McCarthy of the American Leaguers expected to choose between Hans Borowy of the New York Yankees and Tex Hughson of the Boston Red Sox.

Pending definite announcement from Skipper Billy Southworth of the Nationals and McCarthy, base ball men figured today the two pilots would lead with the ace nighthanders. Walters has a 14-11 win record for the Reds. Borowy has won 11 and dropped 4 and Hughson boasts a fancy 13-3 mark.

With Lefty Max Lanier of the Cards out of action for 10 days due to an arm injury, Southworth is expected to follow Walters with Rip Sewell of the host Pittsburgh club and Nate Andrews of the Braves in an attempt to smash the junior circuit's six-year win streak.

Unless Southworth calls in the Phils' Ken Raffensberger the Americans will see all right-handed hurling. With that in mind, McCarthy's lineup may read like this: Lefty McQuinn, Browns, first base; Bobby Doerr, Red Sox, second base; Vern Stephens, Browns, short-stop; Ken Keltner, Indians, third base and Thurman Tucker, White Sox, Stan Spence, Senators, and Bob Johnson, Red outfield; with either Frankie Hayes, Athletics, or Rick Ferrell, Senators, catching.

Southworth can use Phil Cavaretta of the Cubs at first base when McCarthy is using a right-hander or Frank McCormick of the Reds if a southpaw is on the hill. Connie Ryan of the Braves is the likely second baseman with Martin Marion of the Cards and Eddie Miller of the Reds sharing shortstop.

Bob Elliott's recent surge may get the Pirate third sacker the call but Whitey Kurowski of the Cards is a better bet for the hot corner. Walker Cooper of the Cards and Mickey Owen of the Dodgers are due for catching duty while the outfield probably will include Stan Musial of the Cards, Mel Ott of the Giants and either Dixie Walker of the Dodgers or Bill Nicholson of the Cubs.

Yankee Rebound Threatens Sox

By Associated Press
 After losing seven out of nine to the Detroit Tigers, the New York Yankees did an about face and swept a war relief doubleheader, 4-3 and 8-2, from the Bengals yesterday before 33,428, who paid $38,102.50, to move to within one game of the second place Boston Red Sox.

Manager Joe McCarthy of the Yankees sent two rookie pitchers, Walter Dubiel and Em Roser, to the mound in an effort to break the Tiger jinx. Each turned in a creditable job, although Dubiel had to be relieved by Atley Doglad in the ninth inning of the opener.

The league-leading St. Louis Browns and the Washington Senators swapped shutouts, Newman Shirley blanking the Nats with only two hits in the opener as the Browns piled up 15 safeties to gain a 10-0 victory. Milt Byrnes, Brownie center fielder, slammed a 425-foot homer inside the park. Dutch Leonard gained his eighth win, limiting the Browns to five hits to give the Senators a 5-0 decision and an even split.

After dropping the opener to the Chicago White Sox, 4-3, the Philadelphia Athletics won the nightcap, 8-2, behind the seven-hit twirling of Jesse Flores. Frank Hayes walked off his 10th homer in the nightcap to tie for the league lead.

The Chicago Cubs climbed out of the cellar by taking two games from the New York Giants, 6-2 and 1-0, before 38,434. Bob Chipman won his fourth straight in the opener, while Claude Passeau nosed out Bill Voiselle in the nightcap.

Cincinnati took both games from the Philadelphia Phillies, 9-5 and 7-5. Woody Williams, with six hits, was the batting star. The double victory put the Reds only five percentage points behind the second place Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Pirates handed the Brooklyn Dodgers their 13th straight loss by winning the opener, 10-1, and were leading the second contest, 9-7, after eight innings, when the game was halted by Pennsylvania 6:50 curfew law.

No Baseball Here Until Next Saturday

Because of the All-Star game at Forbes Field, Pittsburgh, Tuesday night, there will be no baseball in Boston until next Saturday when the Braves return for a series with the Dodgers.

A single Saturday and a twin-bill Sunday, is the Tribal schedule with the Dodgers, before the Cubs come to town next Wednesday for the first of a series with the western teams.

The Cards, Reds and Pirates follow in that order.

The Red Sox will be idle until next Friday when they open a series with the Yanks, with singles Friday and Saturday and a double Sunday.

Following the N. Y. series, the Red Sox head West, opening in Chicago with the Chisox, July 18.

G.P.L. TABLETS May Often Aid in the Relief of Headaches and Dizziness Associated with High Blood Pressure When Taken Continuously at Prescribed Intervals

G.P.L. TABLETS
 Have never been sold as a cure for High Blood Pressure. They are to be used, at all times, only as a relief of the painful headaches and dizziness associated with High Blood Pressure.
 If you suffer from the torturing pain of High Blood Pressure try G. P. L. Tablets, as have thousands of others. G. P. L. Tablets provide many of the benefits of garlic without lingering after-effects. Through the use of a special process and their charcoal coating, they are without taste or odor and may be taken freely without distaste or offense to others.
 A box of 75 G. P. L. Tablets costs but 89¢. A small price for the relief they may bring you. G. P. L. Tablets are sold only at the Nature Food Center stores. Get your package today.

G. P. L. TABLETS MAY AID IN RELIEF OF DIZZINESS AND HEADACHES CAUSED BY HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE
 G. P. L. Tablets often aid in providing an easy and quick means of aiding relief of dizziness and headaches associated with High Blood Pressure. These day, chocolate coated tablets are free from all dangerous drugs, and may be carried in purse or pocket to be taken at any convenient time.
 Years of clinical and experimental research show that garlic has reduced blood pressure in some cases, usually if it was taken continuously at prescribed intervals.
 Besides garlic, G. P. L. Tablets also contain concentrates of lettuce, radish, parsley and dulse.

MONEY BACK GUARANTEE
 Thousands of people have used G. P. L. Tablets. You, too, may purchase a package of these tablets and try them. If they do not satisfy you in every way, bring back the empty package and receive your entire purchase price.
